

WHAT'S HAPPENING AT SOUTHMORELAND

Musical

By Jamie Gore

This year, Southmoreland Music Theatre brought Mamma Mia! to SHS auditorium March 14-17, 2024. More than 50 students were a part of the cast, orchestra and crews! This year, the group hosted its first Family Fun Day! Once again, the group received a generous sponsorship from Armstrong and produced a professional quality commercial. In addition, members participated in the first ever Encore! Showcase of Musical Talent at the State Theatre in Uniontown, PA on Sunday, May 4, 2024! The students, musical staff and boosters are all so thankful for the generous support of the community and the school district. Thank you to everyone that was able to attend or support the students and the production!

Food Service

By Zachary Malavite
Food Service Director

The wellness committee met for the first time in March to review the existing policy. The next planned meeting is scheduled in the spring to discuss how the committee can utilize their varying expertise to review and recommend changes to the policy.

Food Service was awarded the School Breakfast Expansion Grant for $6,215.20 for use at the Primary Center to enhance and expand the program. The grant will be used for an additional milk cooler, new items to upgrade service, new small equipment to help with food service prep. Additionally a new share cart is being procured to provide an option for students who are required to take components to complete a reimbursable meal, that they can then place on the cart and share those items with friends. The main concept of the share zone is to help curb waste and assist with meal service during the CEP expansion.

Summer Food Planning has begun and a survey was sent out to the community. The data for that community survey has been compiled and will help us to better plan the sites for summer food offerings in Scottsdale and the surrounding areas. Over 180 households responded to the survey and the initial steps are being taken to offer lunch meals at Loucks Park, Everson Centennial Park, YMCA and Frick Park.

The Sun Bucks P-EBT program was announced by the state for summer assistance. Additionally guidelines and information will be sent out from the district regarding the program and how families might already qualify or how they can apply to the Department of Human Services.

Read with Me

by Ron Heitchue, Principal

Read Across America activities and dress-up days were held the last week of February with the culminating "Read with Me at SPC" evening event on March 1st. We had stations for our students to travel to throughout the day. Our theme was "Acceptance" in a diverse world, "SPC A Place For You and Me".

The books of the day:

The Sneetches by Dr. Seuss
Tacky Penguin by Helen Lester
Spaghetti in a Hotdog by Marisa Dismody
Chrysanthemum by Kevin Henkes
Giraffes Can't Dance by Giles Andreae
Elmer by David McKee
Horton Hears a Who by Dr. Seuss
Strictly No Elephants by Lisa Mantchev
The Big Red Umbrella by Amy June Bates

The teachers, staff, and PTA assisted in making this day special. The classroom door decorations were accompanied by posters of the book covers from our featured books, "SPC A Place For You and Me", and mirrors at different heights so students could see themselves as part of the SPC Community. The cafeteria staff decorated for the week too. Through our SPC community, as well as the Southmoreland community, including the community and people around us, we had lovely volunteers to complete rotations for our students.

READ

The sun did not shine. It looked like the sun had swum
 It was too wet to play. It rained in on the boat. We looked!
 So we sat in the house. We saw him! The Cat in the Hat!
 All that cold, cold, wet day. And he said to us, "What day is it?
 I sat there with Sally. "What day is it?" "I know it
 We sat there, we two. "What day is it?" "I know it
 And I said, "How I wish the sun was out today. It's a good fun
 We had so much fun. "What day is it?" "I know it Too wet to play. "What day is it?" "I know it
 And too cold. "What day is it?" "I know it
 So we sat in the house. We saw him! The Cat in the Hat.
 We did not go out. "What day is it?" "I know it
 So all we did was sit. "What day is it?" "I know it Sit! Sit! Sit! Sit! "What day is it?" "I know it
 And we did not go out. "What day is it?" "I know it
 Not one little bit. "What day is it?" "I know it
 And then something happened. "What day is it?" "I know it
 How that bump made our fish said, "No! No!"

Thank You

Volunteers

by Ron Heitchue, Principal

Trooper Limani graciously attended to present safety instructions. Mrs. Beinlich ("B") from Triple B Farms came and read to the students. The PTA supplied volunteers to work the book swap, photos, and ELMER the elephant rotation. PTA funded a pizza lunch for volunteers. Mrs. Goodman and her amazing students read to the students and completed crafts with them. Treats of amazing RAA cookies were baked by Giant Eagle and allergy friendly cookies were provided by Herbalicious. Library and Stem classes participated by using our theme for their lessons. The day was fun and exciting for students and staff alike. A huge thank you goes to: Mrs. Pine for her work in coordinating the Read Across America week activities, Ms. Berg-Swope for her work in coordinating the Read with Me at SPC evening event and to all SHS student and adult volunteers from our community that helped out.

SPC Events

by Ron Heitchue, Principal

It has been an incredibly exciting and event filled spring for our students and staff at Southmoreland Primary Center this year. Aside from preparing for our upcoming 2024-2025 school year with online kindergarten registrations and planning for kindergarten screenings and orientation events, we have been engaged in numerous learning opportunities and activities.

Additionally at SPC we have continued to receive volunteers from Charter Oaks on Tuesdays and Wednesdays of every week to read to our first grade and kindergarten students.

Our kindergarten students are so excited to play on the new kindergarten playground equipment that was installed earlier this winter.

Our kindergarten team reached out to the Westmoreland Land Trust and coordinated and scheduled a presentation on Earthworms for our kindergarten students. This proved to be an exceptionally interactive learning experience for our kindergarten classrooms as they took turns viewing the presentation in the library over the course of two separate school days. Thank you to the kindergarten team and the presenters from Westmoreland Land Trust.

CWCTC Roadshow and Bunny Hop

by Ron Heitchue, Principal

Our first grade students received a visit from the Central Westmoreland Career and Technology Center's traveling "Roadshow," on April 16th. This event was designed to expose our students to career and technical training they may wish to pursue in their high school years. It is never too early to educate our students on opportunities for their educational growth and development related to career readiness!

SPC students and their very generous families participated in the spring Bunny Hop fund raising event. Funds raised will be used for community based instructional experiences for our students with special needs. As a result of this fundraising endeavor and the extraordinary generosity of our students' families, over $6,000.00 was raised. Thank you so much to all of SPC students, their families and community members who so selflessly donated.

Mr. Heitchue requested 300 books for our K and First grade students through the United Way's "Big Book Drop" and Dr. Boone picked up those books for our students in mid April at the distribution site for us. Thank you, Dr. Boone!

SOUTHMORELAND ELEMENTARY SCHOOL

Perfect Attendance

by Tracey Kuchar-Long, Principal

Since the beginning of the year, Mrs. Romesberg has been running a contest for attendance. Everyday that a classroom has perfect attendance, no lates or early dismissals, they receive a letter from the word ATTENDANCE. When a classroom receives all of the letters they get a reward. The reward can be games in the gym, a movie and popcorn or a trip to Loucks Park. So far, every homeroom has won at least once, some have won twice and a few are on their third reward.

Congratulations to all students, way to go!

Carnegie Science Center

by Tracey Kuchar-Long, Principal

On April 5th and April 11th fifth grade classes went to the Carnegie Science Center to see "Titanic The Artifact Exhibition", the students got to see more than 154 genuine artifacts honorably and carefully recovered from the Titanic wreck site.

Leading up to the field trip fifth graders were studying the Titanic by reading the book, making their own artifacts and experiencing dining in first, second and third class.

Everything ended with their field trip to the science center.

Mad Science

by Tracey Kuchar-Long Principal

Fifth grade students had a Mad Science, STEM Workshop on April 2nd.

Students broke up into two groups, the first group topic was Movie Effects, This gave students a chance to sit in the director's chair and discover why Science is the real story on the big screen. Students discovered the Science behind the effects from their favorite movies and investigated 3-D technology. Motion pictures come alive with a spinning praxinoscope.

The second group topic was Detective Science, this gave the students a chance to use Science to crack a case! The crime happened just before the Bustertown bake off. Mr. Baker's big, fat, chewy chocolate chip cookie is sabotaged and his recipe is stolen. Analyzing all the evidence is what helps pinpoint the perpetrator.

The students had 25 minutes in each session and then they switched, giving every fifth grader a chance to experience both sessions.
